

StoreNext Sales Analysis

Know your sales and profitability metrics down to item level

If you know more about what's moving (out), you can make better decisions, and that always means moving profits (up)

StoreNext's Connected Services Reporting System has been providing the key department and group reports you need to understand the fundamental structure of your business and profitability.

It's time to go to the next level.

StoreNext' new Sales Analysis application works as an extension to the Connected Services Reporting System and takes that information all the way down to item level (ISS45 only). Sales Analysis not only extends the existing reporting system reports, but also adds new features.

- Sales analysis was designed to make it simple for Reporting System users to work with simultaneously with Sales Analysis using the same user interface. With truly seamless integration, queries for the Reporting System now drill down to PLU level instead of stopping at the Group or Department.

- Sales Analysis provides the new Sales Count Activity report – here, the user can select how many lines of PLU results to report (as best or worst) based on quantity sold, highest gross profit, cost, dollars and other selectable criteria.
- Users can now configure and save display settings and queries more easily than in the past.
- Sales Analysis can retain an item cost per day across the chain – this means that gross profit analysis will be much more accurate than simply using a flat current cost.
- Sales Analysis is able to use ISS45's native PLU cost data. If RBO is present it can even use RBO's sophisticated item-level costing for further LIFO/ FIFO etc. accuracy.

StoreNext Electronic Journal

Turn ISS45's super EJ loose across stores and dates

StoreNext ConnectedServices™ cutting-edge technology now takes Electronic Journal security and queries to a whole new level

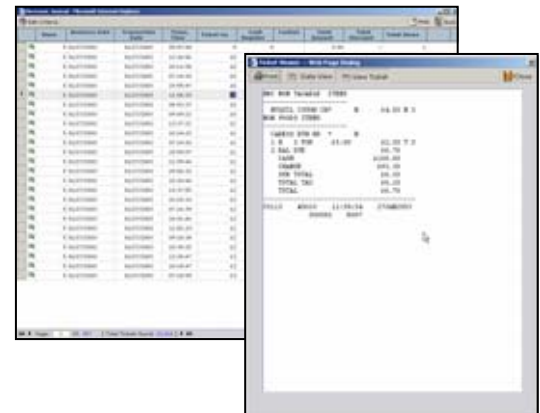

ISS45's superb electronic journal has been a standard feature since its initial release. But only now has StoreNext's Connected Services unleashed its full power. And now it does even more!

StoreNext Connected Services automatically collects your stores' ISS45 Transaction Log data and consolidates it into a specially constructed database. This means faster and easier modifications of existing searches, filters and queries.

- Need to answer the age-old question about how the full moon affects Moon Pie sales? Just ask the EJ to check out those nights — StoreNext's Electronic Journal can consolidate across any date ranges you like.

- Provides chain-wide access for signature capture, plus sign-in/out, loans, pickups, floats and other security-type transactions.
- And the Connected Services EJ goes well beyond what you can do in the store. For example, want to export your output to Excel? No problem — built-in!
- Or multi-sort? Now, transactions can be sorted on different columns and within columns.
- Or check whole transaction sets? Entire lists can be printed without opening them individually now.

And with Connected Services you get anywhere/anytime access, so you can finally get home in time for dinner (and check the store later from your laptop). It's just a better way to manage.

StoreNext Report Viewer

Anytime, anywhere access to your key store reports

StoreNext ConnectedServices™ cutting-edge technology helps you manage your operation while driving down your costs.

Whether you are operating StoreNext's ISS45 system or currently operating ScanMaster, the StoreNext Report Viewer gives you the key tool you need to remove the time and place limits from store management.

With Connected Services' Report Viewer, your important store reports are no longer chained to your supermarket back room.

You and your authorized personnel have the convenience and freedom to see your reports anytime you need. Whether from home, while traveling to another office or another store, all you need is an Internet connection.

Connected Services uploads your ASCII/Excel/Crystal Reports as they are created at end-of-day and stores them for a minimum of 13 months – and more if you need it.

So comparing to the same day last week, last month or last year is just a point-and-click.

Support for Report Viewer is in both ISS45 V7 and V8 as well as ScanMaster.
